

Marjatta Bell & Marjatta Hietala

HELSINKI

Finland's Innovative Capital

Lavishly illustrated, Helsinki – Finland's Innovative Capital tells how a small, rocky seaport in remote Finland developed, within two centuries, into an innovative centre, the home of world famous architects, designers, musicians and scientists and the seat of some of the leading high-tech centres.

It tells how Helsinki acquired its handsome Neoclassical centre; how today's internationally renowned childcare and education services in Finland were developed; how the city was saved during the World War II by its innovative defence system, and how the payments of war-reparations led to the path that eventually -produced e. g. Nokia phones.

It also tells how Helsinki City officials actively sought the latest information from abroad about municipal services and how international exhibitions in Helsinki introduced modern materials, machinery and consumer culture to the rest of Finland.

Pages: 454

Paperback book

Price: 49 €

Publications can be ordered : kaupunkitieto.tilaukset@hel.fi,
tel. - p. +358 9 310 36293

Sales: Tiedekirja, Snellmaninkatu 15, 00170 Helsinki, Finland

Open: Mon - Thu 10.30–17.00, fri 10.30–16.00

Helsinki

